Foreword

The picturesque Century of Progress at Chicago has for its basic theme "the achievements of science and their application through industry to the creation of a larger life for mankind." Progress exhibited in Chicago is similar to the progress which is the basic theme of this issue of the "Mirror"—the progress made in the schools and educational system of Medina.

A visit through the unique buildings of the Fair reveals a gorgeous panorama of natural beauty, calm lagoons, unexpected islands, buildings with lavish architectural decoration, and brilliant illumination. All of this beauty is symbolic of world progress of the past hundred years. A study of the pages of this "Mirror" will seem like a visit to the Century of Progress of Medina. Within the two covers of the book the great strides made in Medina in the field of education during the past hundred years are revealed. A hundred years ago the only school in Medina was a small grammar school. Now the town is proud to gaze upon its modern high school and its several large grammar schools. This remarkable progress has been achieved only through much work and effort.

In recognition of that effort this "Mirror" has been issued. The improvement in the educational system of Medina and the existence at this time of necessary school facilities show that the ideals and aspirations of the people of a century ago have been fulfilled.

The Educational System of Medina

UST as the Century of Progress Exposition held last year in Chicago illustrated the advancement in all lines of industry and art, this annual represents a small part of the progress made in the educational system of Medina, particularly in the high school.

The first school erected in Medina was a district school on the corner of West Street and Park Avenue. It was a one story structure containing two rooms built about 1835. The first academy was built in 1850. Medina was the first village in Orleans County and Western New York to make this advance in education. The growth in the school population of Medina soon necessitated larger schools, and in 1897 two new brown stone school houses were erected. One was a grade school on Oak Orchard Street and the other, a high school. A high state of excitement developed over two new schools, and scores of people declared that we had sufficient school facilities for many generations to come. It was not long, however, before the high school in particular became very crowded and small wooden structures had to be erected in addition in order to take care of the growing school population. The conditions became so acute that the Board of Education were at their wits' end as to what to do. They finally decided unanimously for a new school building, and the proposition was submitted to the people in 1921 who voted to expend a half million dollars, if necessary, to construct such a building. When the building was completed, Medina had one of the most elaborate and best equipped schools in this section of the country.

Much credit is due to Dr. Maynard and his associates on the Board of Education and to Superintendent Brown for their untiring zeal in securing a system of school buildings that has proved adequate up to the present time.

With the increase in the number of school buildings the educational system also changed and expanded from the three R's and a purely literary type to the present system.

At the present time a life-like situation is provided in the schools from the kindergarten throughout the senior high school. The pupils are brought together in ability groups and allowed to progress at a natural rate of development. The child spends about one year in kindergarten and from there proceeds through the six grades spending approximately one year in each grade. A gifted child may complete the work in five years, while one developing more slowly may take seven.

THE MIRROR

Upon progressing into seventh grade the pupil is required to take standard tests which decide whether he is to go into the first, the second, the third or the fourth ability group. Thus the pupil proceeds to senior high school.

In senior high school the pupil may take from three to six subjects according to his ability. The pupil studying fewer subjects can do a more thorough piece of work on what he has attempted, and in whatever he does he will be able to compete with the work of a more gifted pupil although in a narrower sphere. Thus discouragement will not cause the pupil to lose interest in school, and he will be able to complete high school and college, even though it may take a year longer than under the original system.

The idea of school is to help every child to develop himself to the highest extent of which he is capable and not merely to memorize many facts which do not aid in developing a pupil, as was the object of schools years ago. School marks are secondary in the system. In fact, marks and report cards are soon going to be a thing of the past.

After a careful study of comparative education in France, England Germany, and Italy for several years, trying to get the best out of each system and to organize and apply it in a practical manner, Superintendent Brown and the Board of Education have developed this new system of less competition and more cooperation among students in the Medina Public Schools.

“Nothing useless is our law;
Each thing in its place is best;
And what seems but idle show
Strengthens and supports the rest.

“Build today, then strong and sure,
With firm hand and ample base;
And ascending and secure
Shall tomorrow find its place.

“Thus alone can we attain
To those turrets where the eye
Sees the world as one vast plain
And one boundless reach of sky.”

'Twas An Evening In June

'Twas an evening in June,
When the full moon was new,
When the breezes were whispering of love,
That the sail boat of dreams
Came drifting, it seems,
In a haven of romance, of love!

The Captain was Cupid,
And the sailors were stars,
And the moon was the mascot, they say:
The twinkle of one star
Was a kiss on the waves,
As the dream boat of love sailed away.

Founders' Day Pageant

FOUNDERS' DAY of the Parent-Teacher Association was observed February 20 by the Medina association in the high school auditorium, where a pageant, "The Spirit of America," climaxed the 37th anniversary program.

The pageant, adapted from "Every Child," was in charge of Miss Carol Hall and included eighty characters in appropriate costumes for the purpose of depicting episodes in history from primitive times to the present day. She was assisted by Miss Thelma Baldwin with dances, Miss Belle Cooper with music, Miss Greta Ames and Mrs. Olga Hinckley with make-up and Miss Arcola Gray with costumes.

Those taking part in the pageant were:

Indians: John Lacy, John Crowley, Chester Padoleski, Anthony Brossack, Homer Ward, and Anna May Fearby; Pilgrims: Phyllis Farrell, Lois Baker, Dorothy Bell, Rhoda Beckwith, Regina Allen, James Loades, John Lynch, Morgan Johns, Wallace Page, Bruce Olmstead, and Alta Jane Rudd; Washington group: Howard Slack, John Duquette, Donald Canham, Donald Acer, Scott Whipple, Rhea Snell, Harriet Tillman; Lincoln group: Curtis Blount, and Leslie Waterson.

Immigrant groups—Irish: Anna Mae Fox, Helen Neal, Glenn Hill, Malcolm Hill; Scotch: Margaret Findlay, Awanda Phillips, Sidney Lovell, Robert Howlett; Norway and Sweden: Audrey Bennet, Melva Behee, Sidney Lasher, Keith Armstrong; German: Alberta Parker, Ernestine Pask, Armand Bacon, Wilson Shurgour; Dutch: Audrey Boyce, Dorothy McPherson, Keith Albright, Junior Wilson; French: Alice O'Donnell, Ruth Munson, Van Hungerford, Charles Rumsey; Spanish: Mary Acer, Elizabeth White, Kenneth Allen, Jack Henner; Italian: Jane Fuller, Clara Jeanette Snell, Edgar Rook, Eugene Garrett; Polish: Helen Benz, Myra Pettit, Hugh Hill, Norman Root; Chinese and Japanese: Helen Gowans, Mary Sinclair, Erwin Vincent, Rolon Rumble.

The New Road

Oh, Alma Mater! Dear Old School!

The time has come to part.

'Tis with regret we close this page,

You're always in our heart.

The Road of Life is open wide

For students, brave and strong.

We'll do our best to honor you

With strains of a victory song.

The New Road may be long and dark,

We'll work our way to fame.

The Victory Song! Old M. H. S.!

We'll ever bless your name.

And when some day we meet again,

These scenes we'll ever tell

Of happy days as students here.

The New Road now, Farewell!

Class Prophecy

Somewhere-in-Orleans County
New York State, U. S. A.
May 15, 1934

DEAR MISS FERGUSON,

School days, like the Arabs, have silently folded their tents and stolen away, leaving in their place days of aspiration and ambition.

To the best of our knowledge, our classmates are expressing their abilities and desires thus:

Helen Gowans—famous concert pianist.

Edward Burchell—the boss works for "Eddie" now.

"Joe" Vincent—running a dairy farm somewhere in the unknown South.

"Bob" Howlett, "Sparky" Adams, "Dick" Hubbard—having long ago realized the necessity for them, these prominent Medina Citizens are manufacturing alarm clocks for the use of the students of M. H. S.

Evelyn Vickers—still waiting for that tall, dark, handsome young man.

Eloise McNally—conducting a comic strip of high school characters. (She probably got her funny ideas from the class of '34.)

THE MIRROR

"June" Slack—deported to Iceland because he persisted in playing (?) the Saxophone.

"Dick" McPherson—about to follow in "June's footsteps.

"Red" McElwee—tooting for Paul Whiteman.

"Bill" Mackey—shooting the bull and making hamburg.

Bessie Amis—professor of history in Russia

"Eddie" Nudd—cashing in on that pugilistic tendency as Fly-weight Champion.

"Bert" Bateman—a cagey basketball "pro" in the Pacific Coast Basketball League.

Veronica Kurkoski—with Arthur Murry teaching the polka to the younger generation.

Ruth Groff—private secretary to the Secretary of Labor.

Louise Krebs—president of the National Peroxide Company.

Don Rich, Bernard Mahnke, Francis Bookey—collaborating on a new history of economics.

Paul Carson—blackmailing Burchell to keep him from telling business English secrets.

Abigail Cromwell—stenographer for Edsel Ford.

Audrey Bennett—still chumming it with Alice and teaching history in M. H. S.

Helen Benz—lost on Catherine Street somewhere between Pearl and Eagle.

"Andy" Pahura—head coach at Notre Dame.

"Bob" Perry—a great lawyer in Chicago.

Catherine Prahler—farmerette on the Ridge Road.

Howard Slack—"Scribner's" new advertising manager.

Harold Stacey—raising race horses.

Margaret Stocking—owner of the Silk Sock Company.

Betty Jane Sturgis—taking Marie Dressler's place in the "speaks."

"Vic" Beales—running a garage on the Ridge Road.

Delphine Schwab—playing the "sax" in a Harlem Night Club.

Mary Louise Pettit—President of the National Pretzel Company.

Anna May Fox—vice-president of the National Pretzel Company.

June Baehr—taking care of bear cubs (in a Chicago Zoo?).

"Herbie" Cook—thinking up a 58th variety for H. J. Heinz.

Robert Johns—publisher of bigger and better penmanship copy books.

Francis Cardone—wreaking havoc on women's hearts in Hollywood

Jennie Cropse—author of recent Pulitzer prize psychological novel.

"Dave" Dunlap—scenario writer in the "Picture City" for Cardone's plays.

Dorothy Fox—"gym" instructor at Shelby Basin Technical Institute.

"Jack" Henner—conducting current history talks for the "Literary Digest."

Malcolm Hill—touring Ireland to get a piece of the Blarney stone for Miss Ames.

Rita Judd—taking Mr. Hulshoff's place as M. H. S. band leader.

"Sid" Lovell—raising Scotties for the Texaco Oil advertisements.

Alice McClellan—extremely busy trying to trace her ancestry back to General McClellan of Civil War fame.

Doris Miles—head nurse at the Medina Memorial Hospital.

Helen Neal—still copying Doris, and with her at the Hospital.

Marie Reynolds—conducting station BKPG in Medina.

Henrietta McElwee—developing the McElwee Chain of Grocery Stores.

Antoinette Don Vito—editor of the Medina Penny Soap Wrapper

If anyone protests to you concerning what we decided that fate has in store for him, tell him to bring all complaints to

"WILLIE" and "ROOKIE"

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1934

We, the Senior Class of 1934, being of unreasonably unsound mind and body do hereby publish this, our last will and testament, and divest ourselves of our possessions as follows:

Helen Gowans wills her exceptional Latin ability to Mildred Shaddock.

Vera Bancroft wills her nasal twang to "Willie" Shurgour.

Dorothy Green wills those curly locks to "Boggie" Clapp.

Naomi Johnson surrenders her dramatic ability to Gladys Tinney.

Warren G. Knapp bestows gratuitously that conceited "G" upon Edward (G.) Shibilske.

"Bill" Mackey donates a pound of "weiners" to any hungry soul.

"Red" McElwee grants his "carrot top" to Rita Punch.

Edward Nudd bequeathes his "atrocious" vocabulary to Gordon Payne.

"Andy" Pahura bestows his football stride upon Allen Winter.

Margaret Stocking concedes her famous sneeze to Miss Levis.

Francis Cardone surrenders his suspenders to Mr. Martin.

THE MIRROR

Victor Beales wills his Ford to Marjory Ostrander.

Gwendolyn Coon offers her 'coon coat to anyone with a hanger.

The Ergonians leave their sweaters to the members of the Boys' Club in next year's graduating class (if there are enough to go around).

Delphine Schwab wills her "sax" appeal to "Marg." Findlay.

David Dunlap amputates his "game" leg for Curtis Blount.

June Baehr gives all her love to "Norman."

"Sparky" Adams coins his "silver" nickels for the United States mint.

Eloise McNally transmits her sinus to "Doc" Maines for diagnosis.

"Eddie" Burchell gives his heart full of brotherly love to Donald Canham.

Ruth Groff bequeathes her shorthand marks to Avis Boyle.

Paul Carson wills his way with the ladies to "Joe" Smith.

Frances Manieski wills her knowledge of history to Edgar Rook.

"Bob" Howlett bequeathes his ability to pose as a Scotchman to Nola Austin.

Evelyn Vickers leaves her position as Vera's bodyguard to "Teddy" Rumsey.

Howard and James Slack leave their "jazz" orchestra to the Christy Bros. (William and John).

Mary Louise Pettit wills her eyelashes to Ruth Munson.

Alex. McPherson wills his "dimples" to Jean Henner.

Dorothy Fox leaves her "math" for Nord Patten.

Richard Hubbard wills his rapid fire of speech to William Thaine.

Helen Benz wills her "Helen of Troy" complex to the "Paris Fashion Magazine."

Bessie Amis bequeathes the best of her aims to Betty White.

Robert Johns wills his nonchalance to Dorothy Corliss.

Jennie Cropse wills her "crops" to Leslie Waterson for irrigation.

Veronica Kurkoski bequeathes her "historic" giggle to Laura Mae Fisher.

Donald Rich is diminishing his wealth in helping Frankie D. solve the current agrarian problems.

Rita Judd leaves her metal hair to Mary Sinclair.

Victor Page wills the "pages" of his History C book to James Loades.

Antoinette Don Vito wills her scholarship to Donald Yagge.

Harold Stacey gives his spare pencils to anyone in need of one.

Henrietta McElwee bequeathes her chemistry ability to Harriet Corser.

"Jack" Henner wills his Arista membership to "Eddie" Clark.

THE MIRROR

Dorothy Bale wills her place as Miss Ferguson's typist to Marion Kiebala.

Robert Perry gives his discoveries at the North Pole to next year's History C. class

Alberta Bateman bequeathes her basketball ability to her sister, Jean.

Bernard Mahnke leaves to the class of '35 the duty of placing the postmasters in Civil Service (to save further discussion).

Doris Miles bequeathes her (S)miles to Anna Prahler.

Malcolm Hill wills his strong voice to Keith Albright.

Myra Pettit gives her "hold on him" to Nellie Miles.

"Herbie" Cook wills his public speaking ability to Mary Whitmore.

Audrey Bennett wills her History C class to Betty Olds.

Francis Bookey gives his key to the "book of knowledge" to Mary Burke.

Abigail Cromwell bequeathes her athletic ability to Pearl Pogel.

Rolon Rumble wills his feminine walk to Phyllis Farrell.

Marie Reynolds wills her line of boy friends to Viola Callara.

William Knights wills his "Skeezix" lock to Erwin Vincent.

Alice McClellan wills her blank expression to Albert Vereruyse.

Sidney Lovell wills his trigonometry book to anyone who hasn't enough to do.

Louise Krebs gives her place as editor of the "Mirror" of '34 to "Eddie" Hibbard.

"Joe" Vincent wills his passion for bothering the girls to Norman Root.

Helen Louise Neal wills her "Louise" to Harry Metz.

Anna May Fox wills her cleverness to "Bob" Maloney

Alice Christy wills her gum to Bernice Snell.

We hereby appoint Miss E. M. Ferguson as executrix of this last bequest.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto subscribed our names on this 28th day of February, in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-four.

THE CLASS OF 1934

By BETTY JANE STURGIS and CATHERINE PRAHLER

We, the undersigned, do hereby certify that on the 28th day of February, 1934, the testators named above subscribed their names to this testament in our presence and at the same time declared this to be their last will and testament and requested us to sign our names thereto.

The School Library

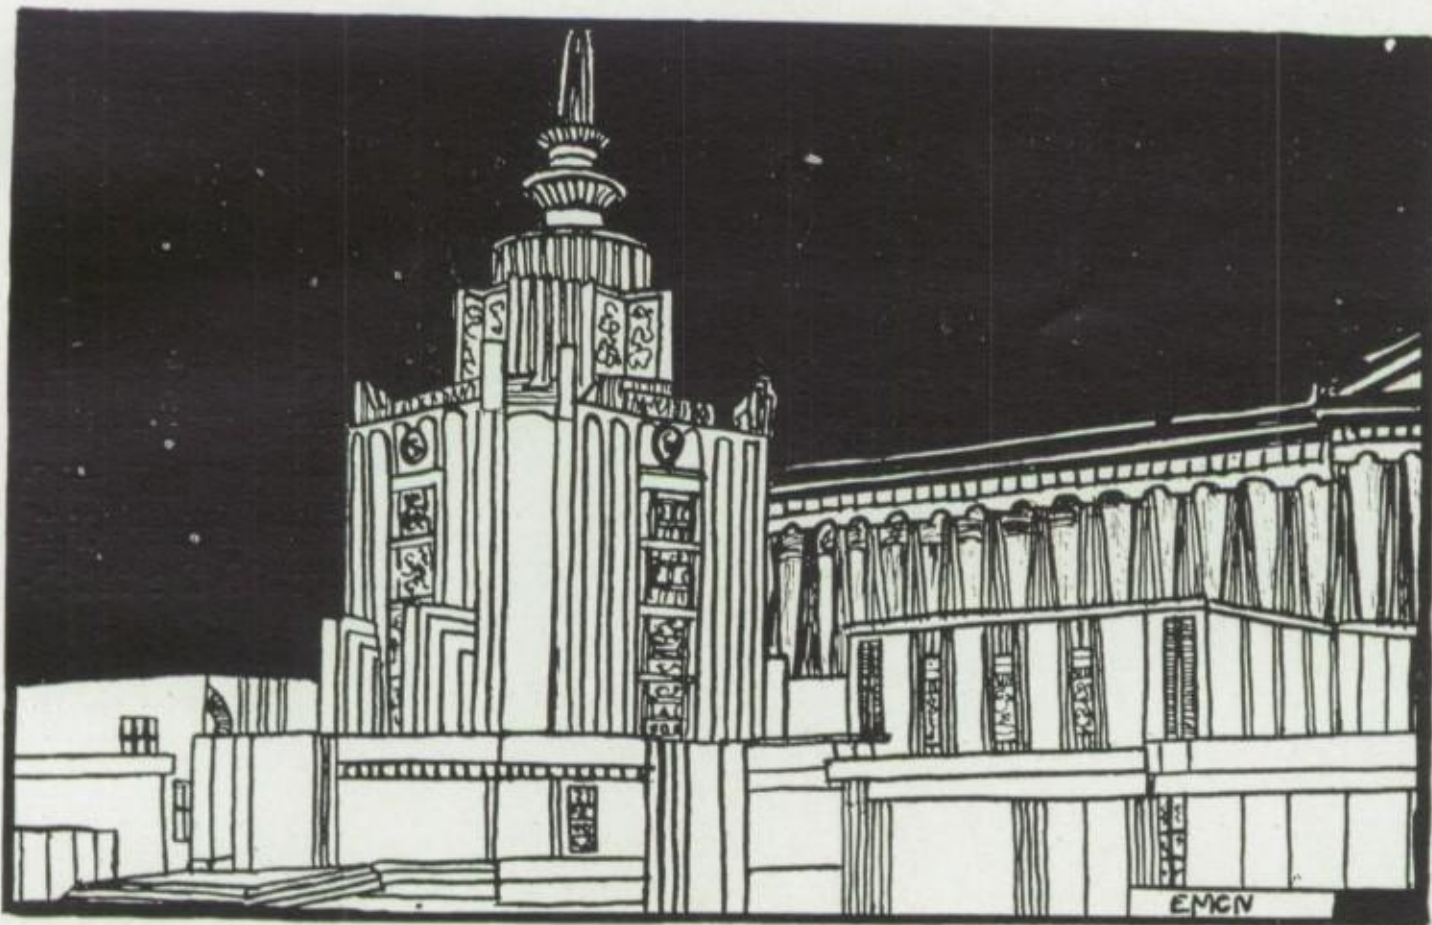

LIKE to spend much time in the school library. It is a little world in itself, harboring the riches created by men and passed down through countless ages. On its shelves repose magic boats for every mind, ready, at but the opening of a cover, to carry one to enchanted lands. One roams the Spanish Main with the bold, blood-thirsty buccaneers or hovers o'er the clouds with the "94th". Fiction, adventure, biography, and mystery combine with science to make our library a scene of activity. The reader of one is the reader of all. Here long hours pass in a few minutes. Within its walls are the four corners of the earth pieced together by man and given to humanity. It is a place of relaxation and contentment after a long day's toil. It helps to cultivate the mind mentally and morally and to point the way to clean manhood. Man has created the library; the library has made man.

Alumni Notes—Class of 1933

SYMBOLIC of world progress in the last hundred years is the World's Fair. Not only does it stand for past progress, but also for future progress, with its bold colored, modernistic buildings outlined against the sky. Thus do the activities of the graduating class of 1933 reveal the present and foretell the future progress of its members.

In the first place, these notes might be a history of Room 304, since most of the class of 1933 graduates are back in old M. H. S. as post-graduates. Kenneth Allen, Helen Flattery, John Witkowski, Arthur Scarlett, Richard Menke, Robert Nagel, and Helen Resseguie are diligently pounding the typewriter daily (especially "Art"). Lorraine Clapp and Helen Montgomery find pleasure in delving into the mysteries of physics. Stammerings of some unknown dialect can be heard issuing from Room 304, but it is only the attempts of Albert Iorio, Elwyn Kleinsmith, Carroll Mears, Leonard Hales, or Alys Waterson to speak French. Betty Whitney, Rhea Snell, and Alice Skinner can be seen wading through shorthand transcript. There are also others who have their troubles. Preston Myhill with his trig, Gordon Howe and his English, Herbert Kendall, Julian Maraszek, and Edward Slack with everything in general. Nevertheless, with all these depressing difficulties the post-graduates liven up the school—for what would the teachers do without them?

James Arnold, Naomi Boyle, and Frances Chick are working in town. Harold Suzanne is teaching piano lessons.

Some of our classmates have not yet embarked upon their chosen careers and are remaining at home. Among these are Elaine Bennett, Francis Allport, Paul Blackburn, Edna Cook, Ethelyn Hoyer, Robert Hoyer, Helen Loades, Mary Maraio, Matie Neal, Eleanor Oliver, Arlene Pask, Donald Raymond, Florence Pettis, Francis Rook, Martha Tulowiecki, William Tulowiecki, Helen Wasnock, Eleanor Welch, and Bessie Woolston.

Marian Bogue and Wellington Kilner are married.

A few, however, are pursuing their studies in higher institutions of learning. Glenn Beach is at Syracuse University. Ruth Bronson is attending Ohio Wesleyan. Harriet Haak and Marian Smith are taking courses at Lockport Business School. Margaret Smith is not the wife of a poultry farmer, but attends Buffalo State Teachers' College. Vincent Marino is at Niagara University, and George Reil at Geneseo Normal.

Thus in nearly all cases, like the technocrats of old, the futurocrats predicted incorrectly or requests were sent in and each future was altered according to the individual's wish. Nevertheless, the "Mirror" extends its heartiest wishes for success to each of these people.

ALYS WATERSON, Alumni Editor

Farewell to M. H. S.

The tears that now do dim my eyes
As these few lines are penned,
Are those of sorrow and of joy
Dear M. H. S., my friend.

It is with grief I say "Farewell,"
And leave these happy halls,
Where Jack and Mary passed their notes
And Cupid made his calls;

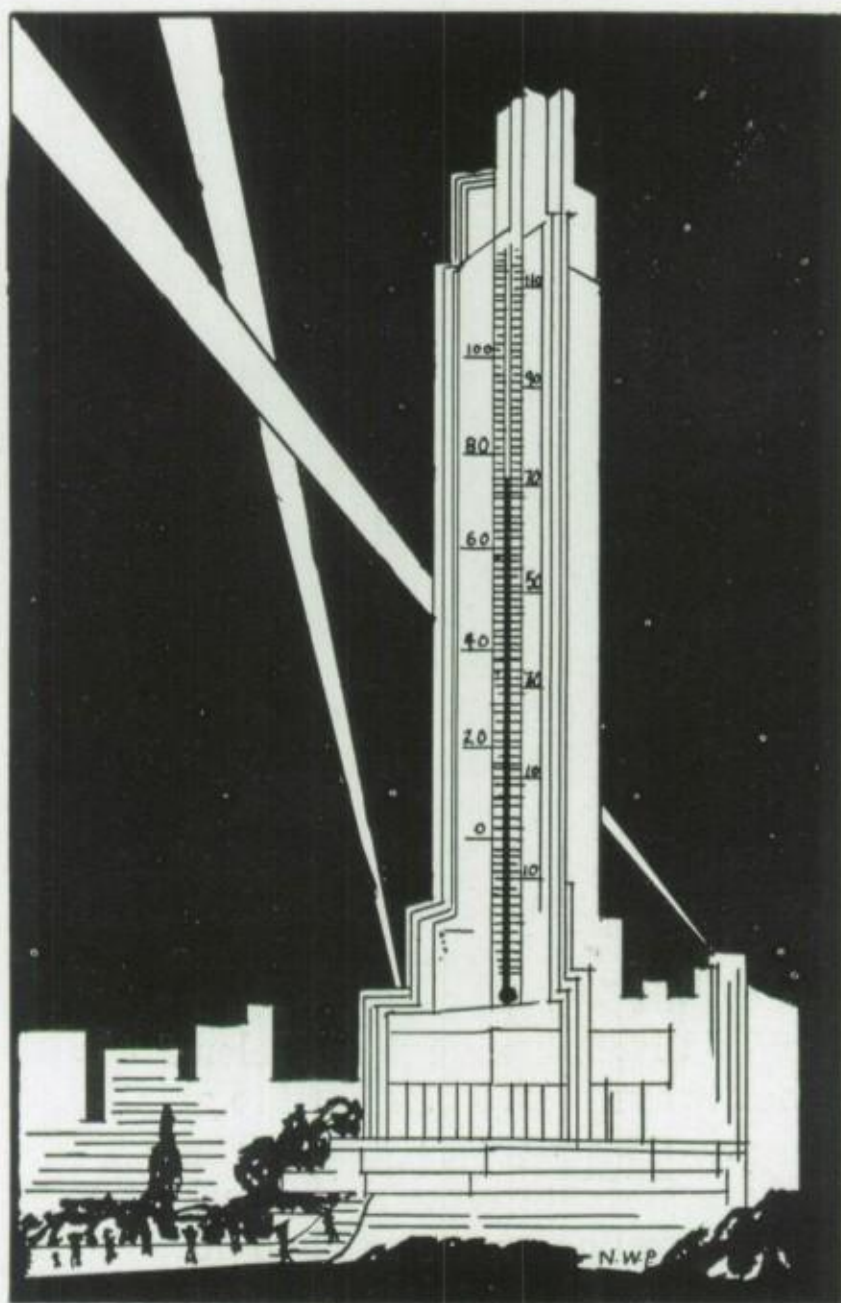

Where Geometry made Francis late,
To keep his most important date;
And "Eddie" had an awful time
To get his English verse to rhyme;
And "Virgil" made poor Helen fret,
She always said, "It's hard to get;"

Where William typed, did shorthand too,
Yet always had some more to do;
In spite of all the trials that came,
We found the sunshine just the same.

And now that my class is to leave
These halls we love so well,
I, with my classmates, do bid you,
Dear School, a fond farewell.

Do you know what W. G. K.'s favorite liquid is? Why, Benzine, of course, you fuel. She likes a Knapp herself once in a while.

"Red" says he'd Acer to Mary him, but that he doesn't know Howe.

Would you believe it? We saw Wayne Neal-ing the other day. It seems she couldn't Ward him off.

A fella was around the other day asking for the owner of Richard the Menke. Oops!

Call 22 and you'll find what makes Rolon Rumble.

What makes Edward, Howard, and James so Slack? The question of the hour! Up and Adams boys.

A guy went into a downtown store and asked for a Burchell of corn.

Another one started warbling a few Knights ago. We let her Howlett for quite a while. It was Rich while it lasted. It was only Eleanor coming through the Ryan singing.

A certain person was seen Posson by in the Hall with a beautiful damsel. Watts that? We're Albright here, anyhow. E-Neff of that.

Who was that foul person I saw Henrietta with the other day? Why, that's the Henner father gave her.

Who was seen out around the corn Krebs the other night? That was Howard Gaz-ing around.

Whose car moves at a Snell's pace and sounds Tinney? Call 22.

Miss Ames—Has the President the right to remove cabinet members from office?

William—Yes, he appoints them. Why can't he disappoint them?

It's a pity handsome people are so conceited.

Not always; I'm not.

Jack—I'll help you with your intermediate. I've got it all here in a nutshell.
